

Securing operations

- Contact your insurance broker to update your policy
- Develop or update your risk management plan, monitor your work, and record incidents so you can learn from your experience and communicate new risk management procedures to stakeholders
- Adopt safety measures to help you avoid another temporary closure
- If necessary, revise your business objectives to reflect reduced workforce or supplies
- Explain operational protocols (including new health and safety instructions) to your employees
- Reactivate services that are critical to operation, such as water and electrical
- Adjust your quality control process to address revised objectives and resources
- Review and update procedures regularly
